AMI is based on the gross household income (i.e. the income before taxes of everyone who will live in the home) and family size. For example, a single head of household with 2 children is a family of 3. On the other hand, 2 adults with one child is also a family of 3. Finally, AMI is evaluated by the County where the home will be located. Applicants must be legally married to qualify under married household incomes.

Also important to know:

Acceptance into the Habitat for Humanity of the Upper Keys Homeownership Program DOES NOT GUARANTEE your family a home. There is still work to be done!! Partner families must complete sweat equity, maintain their incomes and credit, continue to partner with Habitat Upper Keys and pass a full underwriting review before closing on their home. Failure to do any of the above may cause the partner family to be deselected from the program.

What happens once your application is submitted ?

Generally, it takes up to 30 days from the date we receive your completed application to verify the information listed on your application, analyze your financial circumstances and to complete credit and criminal background checks. During that time we may call you for clarification or additional information. Your timely response will be considered under the willingness to partner criteria.

Application Denial - If it is determined that your application cannot be approved for the next step, you will receive a letter stating the reason(s) for denial. If you are able to address and settle the reasons for denial, you may reapply during the next open application window.

Application Acceptance - If your application is approved for the next step, your candidacy will go through a number of approval stages which includes a home assessment visit by two members of the Family Selection Committee at your current home. From that point, your assessment and application will be submitted to the Family Selection Committee for approval. The Habitat for Humanity of the Upper Keys Board of Directors gives final approval. Once approved, every family must attend educational classes and earn volunteer hours called sweat equity. 250-350 hours of sweat equity must be completed by the time closing takes place. It takes approximately 8-12 months to work through the qualification process for homeownership.

Please note: If at the time we receive your application and it appears that you qualify based on need, willingness to partner, ability and residency but we do not have any properties available that fit the size of your family, your application will be denied. However, you may reapply if/when a property that fits your family's occupancy needs becomes available.

Homeownership & Mortgage - Once candidates earn all of their sweat equity hours, complete their classes, follow the qualifying requirements and the construction of their home is complete, closing will occur. They become owners of their home by signing a loan agreement and start making monthly mortgage payments to pay for their home. Monthly payments are based on 30% of owner's monthly gross income multiplied by 30 years (360 payments). Habitat monthly payments include the cost of principal, property taxes and household insurances. Habitat homeowners are required to make their mortgage payments by the due date each and every month. Those whose circumstances change and become repeatedly late with their payments or don't make their payments are subject to financial review, counseling and unfortunately could face foreclosure.
